

Seven Visions

Reconciliation Through Theatre – Virtual School Tour

Imagine streaming right to your desk or classroom while witnessing reconciliation played out before your eyes! We invite our audience to join us in experiencing a multi-media style performance utilizing theatre, music, dance and visuals created by the stories from over 70 Indigenous Youth. At the end of the performance the actors invite you on stage (virtually) to step into the shoes of a character and explore solutions to the challenges they faced.

Seven Visions was created through workshops held with Indigenous youth from seven partner organizations, exploring their view on reconciliation and what this means to them. This new, interactive play will share youth experiences, talents and stories allowing for important dialogue from Indigenous perspectives. The performance is followed by a chance for the audience to intervene and propose solutions to the challenges in the play. We hope to encourage youth to use their voices and actively participate in reconciliation moving forward.

We acknowledge that these are challenging times, and are finding that art and performance can be great for morale. While health and safety remain our number one priority, we're excited to start booking our fall/winter school tour! We want to be ready to safely share live theatre with students as a way to allow them to once again participate in important community-building. We will work with schools to be flexible, respect any school division protocols, and will provide this experience 100% virtually. We will provide support with any technological concerns or needs.

Cost: $400

Length: The play itself is 45 minutes. We recommend booking a 75 minute slot to allow time for intervention and discussion.
